The following is the last test to be made of the beets from the north side of the river, which shows a decided increase over any other test from the north side, but not as good as the south side has made. The tests, however, are very satisfactory, and Mr. Johnson is a little surprised himself at the results, and it demonstrates to him, he says, that sugar beets can be grown with much profit in the valley.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WEATHER AND CROPS

WEATHER.

Scattered showers, not fully indicated by reports received, occurred during the night of the 20th and the morning of the 21st. These showers are believed to have covered a considerable area. Showers also occurred in widely separated localities on several days of the week. The amount of rainfall was generally small. The temperature generally has been above normal, and there has been an increased measurement of humidity.

In the Salt River Valley there was an average daily excess of one degree in mean temperature. There was a thunderstorm on the night of the 20th, attended with a light shower of rain, and a high wind movement. The maximum wind velocity was 28 miles.

CROPS.

There has been no material improvement or progress in crop development during the week, and future prospects

King Edward is reported to have eaten roast beef yesterday. No expense is spared when a monarch is ill.

Mr. Bryan appears to have arrived at that point in his career where he would rather be troublesome than unimportant.

Senator Beveridge says that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for vice-president. It is feared someone has been urging Mr. Beveridge.

A bunch of hogs sold at the stock yards yesterday for eight cents a pound. It isn't fair to wonder any more why pork prices are outrageous.

In Wichita, Kas., a detail of police was sent out yesterday to chop down telephone poles. There is nothing like having one's wires buried in a subway.

"Iowa is with the President" is a large headline in a Des Moines paper. The Denver Post believes it—that a large portion of the population is in Washington with him.

The public will overlook any offenses with the modern steel frame a building. He must not come and shed hypocritical tears at the tomb of McKinley, and he must not ask for a "vindication."

An architect of New York says that with the modern steel frame a building can be carried to a height equal to seven and one-half times the diameter of the base. By this rule, an ordinary city block could be erected a building 1,500 feet high, 500 feet higher than the Eiffel tower. It would have 125 stories high and cost about 30 million dollars.

Baltimore newspaper men have just been treated to the sight of a reporter who "covered" his assignment in a carriage and had a footman follow him into the houses whither he was sent. He was Frank Brown, Jr., son of ex-Governor Brown of Maryland. He took up the work rather than go abroad, but after two weeks of it he recanted and is now about to sail for Europe.

Among Mexicans the opinion is general that should President Diaz cease the routine of his work he would die. At 8:30 every morning General Diaz goes to his office and works until about 1:30 p. m. At 4:30 he goes back again and scarcely ever leaves before 11, and often not until midnight. His time is spent in the hardest sort of labor, and the president would be miserable if he could not carry out the daily program.

The French consul at Batavia lays stress on the importance of bamboo as a material for constructing buildings' scaffolding, and he states that in Java even a lighthouse has been built with its help. The power of resistance of a bamboo cane measuring eight inches to ten inches in diameter, even with a length of sixty-five feet, is enormous. Moreover, bamboo is said not to rot either when in the ground or in water, while the drier and older it grows the firmer it becomes.

Representative Dalgell says that years ago he and the late President McKinley were both to speak at a political meeting, and he was surprised to find Mr. McKinley calm and self-confident before ascending the platform. "Major," said he, "don't you ever get nervous before speaking? You're as cool as a cucumber, and I'm as nervous as a valdeictorian of a young ladies' seminary."

"My dear Dalgell," replied Mr. McKinley, "the difference between us is this: You have your speech in your head, and I've got mine in my pocket."

James R. Keene, Charles M. Schwab and Mr. Morgan have all three been cheek by jowl with royalty this summer, says the New York World. It is true Mr. Keene did not have the pleasure of asking Edward VII to pass the butter, but he no doubt got a sniff of the roast beef in the royal kitchen and came near being asked to stay and have a bite with the reigning family; so he must be included in the list with Mr. Schwab, who dined with the Emperor of Austria, and with Mr. Morgan, who has had a round of kingly meals since he reached the other side.

These American magnates, accustomed to the savor of palace dishes, can now gayly turn up their noses at the plebeian menus of the grab-it-quick restaurants and sans souci lunch carts around Wall street. The caterer who wishes to catch their midday nickels should coax a chef or two from Buckingham palace or the Koeniglicher Schloss and stamp the royal arms of England or Germany on that issue from his kitchen.

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

Don't walk too fast;
Don't fume and fret;
Don't vow 'twill be
Much hotter yet;
Don't eat too much;
Don't drink at all
Of things composed
Of alcohol.

Don't read about
The sunstruck folks;
Don't read the old
Hot weather jokes;
Don't work too hard;
Don't try to see
The rising of
The mercury.

Don't fan yourself;
Don't think you're hot;
Just cool off with
"I think I'm not."
And more than that,
Don't read a rule
Beneath this head:

Hackettstown, N. J., April 20, 1902.
Gentlemen—I took home a package of "FORCE" yesterday and the children were anxious to try it for supper. We found it suited our palates, and our little two-year-old girl cried for the second dish. The first thing this morning, on reaching the breakfast table, she, in the baby English, made us understand that she wanted "FORCE" for her breakfast. We are all in love with it, but I am afraid you have got me into a "peck of trouble," as the children want "FORCE" for dinner and supper as well as breakfast. Yours very truly,
